Simply this. In jaundice from suppression the liver does not secrete bile; consequently no bile-acids being formed, none can enter the circulation, and they are therefore not to be detected in the urine. In jaundice from obstruction, on the other hand, bile is secreted, and absorbed into the blood; and the bile-acids not being all transformed in the circulation, as Frerichs supposed, are eliminated by the kidneys, and appear in the urine, where they can be detected by Hoppe s method, or even, with proper precautions, by simply adding sulphuric acid and sugar. Here, however, some skill and experience are requisite, in order not to confound the colour produced by the action of the reagents on other substances with the fine purple produced by the biliary acids. As the majority of cases of jaundice result from suppression of the hepatic function, and as many of the cases of obstruction ultimately merge into the former, it is easily understood how the existence of the biliary acids in the urine has been so frequently denied. I have myself seen, in a case of obstruction of the common duct, the biliary acids slowly and gradually diminished in the urine, until they at length almost entirely disappeared as the case approached a fatal termination. Here the disappearance of the biliary acids went on step...
